

Electoral structure review - Yarriambiack Shire Council - Preliminary Submission

We do not want any changes to the current system. Definitely NOT single as all councillors would then be from the largest voting population, ie Warracknabeal and there would be no representation for the small villages and most of the rural areas.

This system is NOT broken, it was bad enough when city-centrics amalgamated shires. Public servants in Melbourne have not idea nor any real interest in what happens in 'the bush'. Play with Melbourne, Ballarat, Geelong and Bendigo but leave the rest of us alone. You have done enough damage to us in the past
