I would like to comment on this proposal with some observations.

If the council abolishes 'wards' and merely has elected councillors all working in an unallocated space it will become a political career springboard with some dedicated folks doing the heavy lifting and leg work while others take the photo opportunity. Not interested in this proposal at all. Wards create accountability.

I would have used the interactive form but once it asked be to go into my browser and disable pop ups it lost me. Techie people need to realise that requests like that strike fear into the hearts of mere mortals and make things encouraging and user friendly
